

Principal's Vision

Hello. I'm Malcolm Bromhead, Principal of Australian Christian College Southlands. You may be new to our town or you may be looking for a school for your child. I would like to take a moment to share my vision for our students here at Southlands.

We all know that a child's school experience plays a critical role in developing their sense of well-being and outlook in life. We take this seriously, and so that is why we seek to ensure that our children encounter a wide range of education experiences from the fragile years of school entry to the more vigorous demands of schooling in later years. We also believe in developing the whole child, so it is vital that the nurturing of Christian character, self-esteem and social consciousness undergird and surround their physical and academic progress.

At Southlands we are committed to providing and maintaining an environment which not only fosters the development of students' potential but does so in a friendly, caring, and challenging atmosphere under the leadership of well qualified Christian teachers.

As the newest school in Albany we are busy creating traditions and opportunities for our students. At our school we want our children to be well known, well loved, and well taught, and so set free to be lifelong learners. I invite you to explore further the role our college can play in the education of your children.
